Friday, April 19, 2024

Let's spread awareness & acceptance for those on the autism spectrum.

Why bubbles?

Bubbles 4 Autism started as a preschool classroom event in 2004, when the mom of a little boy with autism (Kyle) wanted to teach his classmates how to play with her son. Kyle's mom & his teacher came up with an activity & it has since become a basis for what is now known as "Bubbles 4 Autism Day" all over the world. The reasoning behind the bubbles is very simple-Bubbles made Kyle smile & engage with his classmates & teachers. Bubbles can create a connection between people. Eye contact, movement, joy, & hope cross the bridge of engagement for people on the spectrum. Many therapists that work with children with ASD use bubbles as part of their treatment plans, and most kids love bubbles and so do adults!
